

VOLUME XXVIII.....NUMBER 126

The feelings of the grateful man much overcame to allow him to reply parted in silence, and by minding business, he is now one of the war the name in Philadelphia.

In Peace or War, on land or sea,
Our flag, the sign of glory, Shall float to coming years the story How stout of heart, and strong of hand, The patriots of our native land Bore it, the nation's hope and life,
On tented field, and fearful strife, Still on! 'till through the sulphurous cloud It broke in triumph, 'Treason's shroud!

The New York Tablet says that there will not be less than 100,000 Catholics in the Federal army before the close of the year.

Twenty two rifled cannon have reached Cairo, and appearance generally indicates that a southwest movement from that point is in contemplation.

How does BRITISH CAPTAIN PERSEVERED
The Evening Post, of late date, under the head of "A Convenient Position," thus quaintly brings up an incident of the Sudan and Mason capture:

There was one little paragraph in the early dispatches concerning Capt. Wilkes' exploit which has been forgotten, but is very interesting. It was stated that when the commander of the English steamer showed fight and defied the power of the frigate, Capt. Wilkes immediately "placed the San Jacinto in a convenient position." This was a mild way of putting it, but inasmuch as the "convenient position" probably brought the frigate's broadside into view, the English ship had no longer any chance. Our navy generally is getting into convenient positions, and with equally excellent results.

THE CONTRABAND QUESTION. A correspondent writing from Fortress Monroe, gives the following account of how smoothly the negro question is working in that quarter, and suggests that the whole subject be allowed to work itself out in the same satisfactory manner, elsewhere.

"Working negroes by the former rapid of slaves, General Wool must have several millions of this kind of property. As yet I have not seen or heard of any proclamations, addresses or other declarations in this department on the subject. The practice is simple, straightforward, and quite sufficient for reasonable men."

RECEPTION OF CAPT. WILKES. The exceedingly unfavorable weather yesterday, and the short notice of the public reception to be given to C. P.
Wilkes, were all that prevented an oration such as is rarely seen in this city. The feeling is right and ripe, as every one knows. As it was, however, the occasion was one of unusual interest. No man could awaken greater enthusiasm in a Faneuil Hall audience than did the appearance of Capt. Wilkes. The presentation speech of May or Wightman was a good taste, and just the right length. The reply was the reply of a true soldier—a man who can do anything that he sets his heart upon, but who doesn't care to make any talk about it. The look and bearing of the speaker made an excellent impression, and discussed a general exposure for a grasp at the hand of the Jackson stamp, who, for the sake of his country, dare to take any responsibility.
To-day Capt. Wilkes will still further be made known to the people, and his bearing and will of Boston. We had heard and bearing of the speaker made an excellent impression, and dis-
of his country, dare to take any responsibility.
